

Itâ€™s December, 1831 and Mary Ellen has found herself in Sydney Town, happily married to James and with one baby. The few years which have passed since she bid a tearful farewell to Felicity have brought her closer to her own family in Ireland, peace with her mother as well as tragedy, joy and more adventure than she could ever have dreamt on when she was a fifteen year old struggling to survive against all odds in the convict settlement of Brisbane. She and Felicity are together again yet each is restless and they both yearn to find Alinta and the only place that could happen is back in Brisbane. Thereâ€™s help forthcoming from Mary Ellenâ€™s former employer, Mr. White, and with James and Margery as well as a retinue of new staff, the families head back to where it all began. But life in such a place is not without its costs and the continuing story of Mary Ellen, Felicity and Alinta will surprise and enthrall.
